The Passion of Joan of Arc

Historical drama, C. Dreyer, 1928
Renée Falconetti's performance as Joan is often called the greatest performance ever captured on film. Carl Theodor Dreyer's The Passion of Joan of Arc is a silent masterpiece that tells the story of Joan's trial and martyrdom almost entirely through the human face. It is one of the towering achievements of silent cinema and one of the most emotionally powerful films ever made. This is a rare opportunity to experience a film that demonstrates just how expressive and profound cinema can be without a single spoken word. In 2022 The Passion of Joan of Arc was ranked #21 among greatest films of all time by film critics. (81 minutes, silent)
