Campfield Heinrich

Campfield is a currently a student working towards his Master of Divinity at United Lutheran Seminary in Pennsylvania. Hailing from central Connecticut, he is a candidate in the New England Synod for ordination in the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. He has a great passion for living out his faith through engaging the church in the community, which he hopes to incorporate into his ministry wherever he ends up being called one day. In his free time, he enjoys spending time with friends, family, and his partner Noelle, as well as reading, and hiking and backpacking throughout the northeast. He greatly looks forward to getting to know the community at HHH

Kelsy Hillesheim is finishing up her MDiv at the Boston University School of Theology, during which she resided alongside the Society of St. John the Evangelist, an Episcopal monastery in Cambridge. Before seminary, she worked in arts administration in Manhattan and taught early childhood violin in her hometown of New Rochelle, NY. She completed her undergraduate studies in philosophy with a minor in history from The City College of New York. It was there that she first felt a call to chaplaincy, on an alternative spring break trip to a historic HIV/AIDS hospice in Houston. However, it was witnessing the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on her fellow New Yorkers that ultimately prompted her to lean into exploring where that call may lead. She is grateful it has led her to Havenwood Heritage Heights! In her spare time, Kelsy enjoys chamber music, songwriting, and knitting.

Heather Milliken

Heather is a 2nd-year MDiv student at Boston University and a Member in Discernment with the NH Conference of the United Church of Christ. She was raised in Barnstead, NH and has resided in Salem, NH since 2013. She has one child who is currently in middle school. Heather hopes to become an ordained UCC minister serving in NH as a church pastor and spiritual care provider. She looks forward to spending the summer learning about the spiritual needs of older adults, who are such vital members of our NH churches and communities.

Rosemary Onyemere is a Nun in the Religious Order of Sisters of Jesus the Good in Nigeria, dedicated to guiding and nurturing young women's vocations. She is currently pursuing a Master's program at Boston College's Clough School of Theology and Ministry. With a passion for service and humanitarian work, her goal is to enhance her skills to serve as a spiritual caregiver, particularly to the elderly and those in need of care.
